April 30, 2021

1:00pm – 2:30pm EST

Opioid use disorder is a complex problem that can affect anyone. It knows no demographic boundaries; however, individuals in rural areas often face additional challenges and risk factors, such as isolation, unemployment and poverty. Limited resources for prevention, education, treatment and recovery further compound the problem for healthcare providers.

This educational webinar for healthcare providers and professionals will provide a foundational overview of opioid use disorder and the opioid epidemic, in addition to other topics including medication-assisted treatment, risk reduction, motivational interviewing, contingency management, and alternative pain management.

This course is approved for 1 CME hour
